

The Center for Arab and Middle Eastern Studies
The Department of Sociology, Anthropology & Media Studies
American University of Beirut

Cordially invite you to a hybrid panel

Mapping the Production of Knowledge on Women and Gender in the Arab Region

Monday, February 20, 2023

What do we know about women and gender in the Arab region? What do we need to know? How do we train young scholars to provide the knowledge that is needed to more productively understand the past and think about the future of this region of the world?

Mapping the Production of Knowledge on Women and Gender in the Arab Region (MPK) will present preliminary results from its project to map scholarship from 1970 to the present, under the thematic of socialities. The purpose of MPK is to first identify then to critically review all the work that has been published on women and gender, including what topics were researched, who carried out the research, on what countries, using what theories and methods, published in what languages, and what findings. MPK is a project of the University of California Davis Arab Region Consortium (UCDAR), in partnership with the Arab Council for the Social Sciences, (ACSS) funded by the Open Society Foundation, Amman and supported by the Ford Foundation.

Research Team:

Suad Joseph (UC Davis), Nawar Al-Hassan Golley (American University of Sharjah), Lena Meari (Birzeit University), Sara Mourad (American University of Beirut), Zina Sawaf (Lebanese American University), Martina Rieker (American University in Cairo), Joanna Abillama (Lebanese American University), Meghan Klasic (University of Minnesota), Zina Zarour, Christie Choueiri

Program:

- AUB Welcome: Dr. Sari Hanafi, Professor of Sociology and Director of CAMES
- ACSS Welcome: Dr. Seteney Shami, founding director of ACSS
- Project Overview
- Webpage Presentation
- Mapping Presentation
- Why mapping the production of knowledge?
- Q&A

IN COLLABORATION WITH

UC Davis Arab Region Consortium

